

Welcome to A Level Geography

You have made a great choice with choosing A Level Geography to study for the next two years. It is such a rewarding subject where you can put real life observations into practice. Like all A levels, you are required to do lots of independent study and reading around the subject. To prepare you for this you are required to complete two free courses at the Open University.

When you begin your A Levels in September, please bring with you evidence of your completed certificates, as well as your notes from the course.

You should allow yourself plenty of time to complete these courses (they are not something you can do overnight). You will need to sign up and create an account in order to complete, but do not worry as it is completely free.

| Changing Cities   | Earthquakes  |
|---|--|
|  |  |

If you have any questions accessing the above please contact Ms Hoy or Mr Bradbury.